From the bustling town centre of Chelmsford, to the relaxing historic maritime town of Maldon, there's certainly plenty to see. Taking in unspoilt countryside, charming villages and the Chelmer & Blackwater Navigation, there is no better way to discover this part of Essex.

Chelmsford
Once called Caesarmagus – the market place of Caesar and known as the birthplace of radio, Chelmsford is a vibrant and cosmopolitan county town. It has much to offer the visitor; with an abundance of things to see and do locally, it also provides an ideal base from which to explore. Situated in the heart of Essex, Chelmsford is only 35 minutes from central London by train or a 30-minute drive from Stansted.

Chelmsford offers some of the best shopping in Essex with a traffic-free High Street linking two bustling, covered centres where top name stores complement specialist individual shops in Moulsham Street. Add to this the international restaurants, cafés, wine bars and pubs (some with live music), and the appeal of Chelmsford is obvious. Situated in the heart of the town centre is the country's historic 15th century Cathedral.

In its history Chelmsford has played host to a number of famous figures; Charles Dickens, the Duke of Wellington, Oliver Goldsmith and Guglielmo Marconi all feature and are commemorated around the town on 'Blue Plaques'.

Visit the magnificent Hylands House, the rooms have been restored to their appearance during the Georgian and early Victorian periods may be viewed. Hylands Park is the perfect backdrop for the renowned 'V' concerts that have provided the best of contemporary rock and pop music live over one weekend in August each year since 1996.

Further attractions include the Essex County Cricket Club, Chelmsford Museum in Oaklands Park and other parks with riverside walks.

Picturesque villages each with their own charm and history surround Chelmsford.

Chignall St James and Chignall Smealey have delightful cottages revealing traditional Essex plasterwork; Pleshey has thatched cottages and a castle mound; Great Waltham is where Tudor chimneys grace the beautifully restored Guildhall on the edge of the churchyard.

Maldon
The riverside town of Maldon is a wonderful place to chill out and relax with its majestic Thames Sailing Barges moored at the Hythe Quay. They were once an essential means of carrying goods to London from the estuaries and ports of the East Coast, but are now mainly used for leisure. Despite its lazy riverside pubs and lovely Promenade Park, Maldon retains its traditional maritime links with activities such as barge repairing, boat building, sail making and oyster fishing. Maldon Sea Salt, harvested from the Blackwater Estuary since pre Roman times and is world renowned. There are important nature reserves in the salt marshes and most of the coast is an undisturbed abundance of wildlife. Walkers, birdwatchers and artists meander along the network of public footpaths throughout the area, some following ancient scenic routes.

Follow the Maldon Town Trail to discover the fine historic buildings in the riverside town. Admire the 15th century Moot Hall which has dominated civic life for over four centuries and has many interesting features for visitors. All Saints' Church has a monument celebrating the Saxon Earl Bryhtnoth and Lawrence Washington who was the great, great-grandfather of George Washington is buried here. The triangular tower, built in the 12th century, reflects the French connections of the church and is unique in England.

13. Essex Wildlife Trust Hanningfield Reservoir Visitor Centre
Set in 100 acres of mature woodland overlooking the Hanningfield Reservoir. It is the ideal place to admire the wildlife and countryside. Enjoy the incredible views over an island that is popular with wildfowl.

Tel: 01245 605700
www.chelmsford.gov.uk/museums

17. Moulsham Mill
The existing wooden building dates back to 1819 with substantial repairs carried out over the years. For centuries it functioned as a water mill, with grain being transported from Maldon along the rivers Blackwater and Chelmer. The mill houses a variety of crafts and small businesses including a tea and coffee shop.
Tel: 01245 608200
www.moulshammill.co.uk

18. Chelmsford Cathedral
The smallest cathedral in England, this 15th century perpendicular Gothic church is light and colourful with its own jewel-like quality. It became a Cathedral in 1914 and the Bishop's throne, 'Cathedra', prominently placed under the East Window, testifies to that. Amongst its special features are a 15th century porch with memorial windows to USAAF based in Essex 1942-5 and an early 15th century semi-circular fan arch.

Attractions along the route:
1. Pleshey Castle
An 11th century motte and bailey castle with extensive outer walls surrounding the town. It was dismantled in 1158 but was then rebuilt at the end of the 12th century. Most of the castle was pulled down for building material in 1629, leaving just the large fifty foot high motte surrounded by a deep ditch and an outer bailey. Viewing by appointment only. Please ring 01245 360239 at least 2 days in advance. Charge £2.00 per person.

2. Chelmer & Blackwater Navigation – Paper Mill Lock
The Chelmer & Blackwater Navigation has a long unbroken history. Today you can take canal cruises along the unspoilt navigation aboard the Victoria or the Cappel. You can also hire a row boat and explore the area yourself. Round off your visit with refreshments and home made cake from the tearoom open daily from 10am throughout the year.
Tel: 01245 225520
www.papermilllock.co.uk

3. Ulting Church
Ulting Church sits in peace alongside the Chelmer and Blackwater Navigation. It is one of the many hidden delights of the area.

4. Museum of Power
The museum is housed in a former steam pumping station and features one of the original pumping engines. The displays are power related, including steam, water, nuclear and muscle power. The museum is set in attractive riverside grounds with a picnic area and a small tea room. A miniature railway gives rides on one Sunday a month. Child friendly exhibits and activities.
Tel: 01621 843183
www.museumofpower.org.uk

5. Combined Military Services Museum
The Museum has collections of British military artefacts and a number of the items on display are of national importance for example: the only surviving MK2 'Cockle' canoe as used in the 'Cockleshell Heroes' raid. There are excellent displays of civil war armour, as well as fully equipped models of paratroopers from Anhem, Suez and the Falklands.
